FRENCH COURTSHIP.*

BY BRANDON.

Daughter, while you turn your wheel,
Listen to the words I say;
Colin has contrived to steal
Your unthinking heart away.
Of his fawning voice beware,
You are all the blind one's care,
And I mark your sighs whene'er
Our young neighbor's voice is heard.
Colin's voice is false, though whining—
Hist! the window is unbarred!
Ah, Lisette, you are not spinning!

The room is close and warm, you say;
But, my daughter, do not peep
Through the casement—night and day,
Colin there his watch doth keep;
Think not mine a grumbling tongue;
Ah! here at my breast you hung,
I, like you, was fair and young,
And I know how apt is love
To lead the youthful heart to sinning—
Hist! the door—I heard it move!
Ah, Lisette, you are not spinning!

It is a gust of wind, you say,
That hath made the hinges grate;
And my poor old growling Tray,
Must you break for that his pate?
Ah, my child, put faith in me:
Age permits me to foresee
Colin soon will faithless be,
And your love to an abyss
Of grief will be the sad beginning—
Bless me! sure I heard a kiss!
Ah, Lisette, you are not spinning!

'Twas your little bird, you say,
Gave that tender kiss just now;
Make him cease his trifling, pray,
He will rue it else, I vow.
Love, my girl, oft bringeth pain,
Shame and sorrow in his train,
While the false successful swain
Scorns the heart he has beguiled
From true virtue's path to sinning—
Hist! I hear you move, my child!
Ah, Lisette, you are not spinning!

You wish to take the air, you say:
Think you, daughter, I believe you?
Bid young Colin go his way,
Or, at once, as bride receive you!
Let him go to church and there
Show his purpose to be fair;
But, till then, beside my chair
You must work, my girl, nor heed
All his vows, so fond and winning;
Tangled in love's web, indeed—
Lisette, my daughter, mind your spinning!

*A blind mother sits in her cottage, beside her pretty daughter, and cautions her against love, while, all the time, a scene is going on between the girl and the very lover whom the old dame dreads.

SONG OF THE MISER.

Clink, clink!
There's a ray of light through the window chink,
That comes to play with my gold, I think;
I must bar it out to-morrow.
I'll have no sun-rays counting my store;
They come from a world that's hungry for more,
That spieth my coffers and hateth me sore;
That I know to my sorrow.

Clink, clink!
How the golden eagles glow on the brink
Of the yellow pyramid, built, I think,
From spoils of every people.
Say I frame me a miniature church the while,
Moidore and Sovereign will pave me the aisle,
Doubloons and Ducats will wall it in style,
And Crowns run up to a steeple.

Clink, clink!
Across the way but a chain and a link,
A spider hides in his web, I think;
A leopard-sleek attorney.
He would cut men's throat serenely and cold,
If their artery-blood ran molten gold;
He's travelling on to his master's fold—
I wish him a sulphurous journey.

Clink, clink!
A beggar-girl stood on the parapet brink
Of the lonely bridge—quite crazy, I think—
And gazed on the moaning water.
She asked for a farthing; I gave her a curse;
She plunged, and the city provided a hearse;
No matter—it might have been terribly worse;
'Twas only a poor man's daughter.

Clink, clink!
A delicate eye-lid flashed me a wink,
Yesterday—close by the park, I think;
What widow was it, I wonder?
Why smile upon me, grim, ugly and old?
If the forks of the lightning were woven with gold
They would lasso each flash with a veil's white fold,
Despite the following thunder!

Clink, clink!
My beautiful gold, thy gleams I drink,
Brighter, more nectarous than wine, I think:
They glint like stars of even.
I love thee better than sun-brown hair,
Better than sick men's June's warm air,
Better than angels, the penitent prayer,
Better, aye, better than Heaven!

A BOY.

There's something in a noble boy,
A brave, free-hearted, careless one,
With his unchecked, unbidden joy,
His dread of books and love of fun;
And in his clear and ruddy smile,
Unshaded by a thought of guile,
And unrepressed by sadness,
Which brings me to my childhood back,
As if I trod its very track,
And felt its very gladness.

Agriculture.

WORK FOR THE SEASON.—This, above all others, is the time for the farmer to see that his house, barn, and outbuildings are put in thorough repair. A coat of paint may be put on with profit wherever required, for it becomes firmer than at any other season. If boards have started, hinges are loose, windows are broken, thatched roofs are out of repair, see that they are put in order without further delay; let the winter find you fully prepared for its severest storms. The prudent man will also see at the present season whether he has sufficient shelter for the stock that he intends wintering. If not, he will at once set about preparing additional accommodations. In default of better quarters, a temporary hovel may be constructed by fixing poles in the earth, running rails from top to top, and covering the whole with corn-stalks or weeds.

Root crops now require considerable attention. Take advantage of dry weather in the 1st of this month or the 1st of November to dig them; take up the tenderest first. Keep them out of the sun after they are dug. Beets must be harvested before frost; pack them in sand in your cellar, or in dry bins. In removing the tops do not cut so close as to cause the root to bleed. Turnips are more hardy; they may be left out even after frost, and will continue to grow. Carrots must be got in before the ground freezes; their tops make excellent food for milch cows. Parsnips not needed till spring, may be left in the ground all winter; the rest had better be gathered late in the month and buried in sand in the cellar. Horse-radish may be dug as needed; leave the oldest roots for future production.

As long as pasturage holds out, let your cattle have it; it is important that they should begin the winter in good flesh. As the grass gives out, supply them with extra feed. Young stock, in particular, will not thrive without an abundance of food.—Cornstalks, small roots, beet-tops, Chinese sugar cane, &c., should be given to milch cows. We repeat the caution that you be sure to have sufficient good accommodation for all the stock that you intend to keep over. Warm stabling is absolutely essential. Not only does it save you a fourth of your feed and a great deal of manure that would otherwise be lost, but it also brings your cattle out in much better condition in the spring than if you fed them from the stack in the open air. If your barn is not large enough, throw up a hovel or build another barn on some remote part of your farm, whereby you will save the riding both of manure and hay.—See that you have a good cistern near your barn; it is a great trouble to drive cattle a quarter of a mile twice a day to water, and in slippery winter weather there is some risk.

Supply your fattening hogs with an abundance of food; and if you want it to tell, let it be cooked. It has been proved, by repeated experiments, that one pound of cooked corn is worth two pounds raw for making pork. Pumpkins, carrots, and any refuse fruits, vegetables, or root tops may be thrown into the hog-yard with advantage. Do not let the manure of the stye be neglected; there is an abundance made during the fattening process.

DIGGING IN THE MINES.—Whenever rains do not interfere by overflowing or soaking the mines of muck which are to be found on almost every farm, the owners of such may be very usefully employed at this season of the year in making "piles" of this very valuable material, which in the course of a year or two may be transmuted into gold. Those who get out a few loads of muck, and put it into a situation where it will have a chance to get the benefit of being frozen throughout in the winter, and thoroughly dried in the summer, will find cause, in succeeding crops, for thinking that they have done well; and those who get out every year enough to absorb all the liquid of their stables, &c., and to use as composting material with stable manure and other similar substances, are doing still better, as the experience of all who have used muck extensively and judiciously abundantly testifies. We have been moved to remind our readers of the value and present seasonableness of this kind of work, in consequence of the remark of one who has been doing more and more of it every year from an increasing conviction that "it pays." He says that he never was so sensible or sure that any manure or application of bone or even plaster ever had improved so much the mechanical condition and the fertility of his land, as he has been, year after year, in regard to muck. No equal amount of labor has ever paid him better. Similar to this, we presume, will be the experience of all who may be induced to make trial of this always-paying business of digging in the muck mines.—Country Gentleman.

Selected Tale.

THE TWO CORDS OF WOOD.

Just at dusk one November evening, three children occupied the large kitchen connected with the establishment of farmer Grant. A bright wood fire blazed cheerfully in the wide chimney, while from the crane the suspended tea kettle was announcing as loudly as possible, that the hour for supper was approaching. By the bright, but fitful light, one young girl sat reading, another stood at the window watching the cows, as they walked demurly from the yard to the stable, while a boy of eleven summers was seated on a cricket in front of the fire, gazing steadily at the flames as they shot upward, but with an appearance of abstraction indicating that his mind was elsewhere.

Softly Ellen advanced from the window and touching her sister Ruth to call her attention, whispered 'Just look at Thomas. He's in a brown study, as the teacher said this afternoon. I do wonder what he is thinking of.'

'Ask him,' responded Ruth, glancing at her brother, and then turning to her book again.

'Thomas,' called Ellen, 'what makes you look so sober to-night? Did you miss at school?

The boy heaved a deep sigh, and then turned to his sister with a smile, saying 'O, Ellen, you can help me if you will; only you must first promise not to tell any one.

Ellen promised, and Thomas led her to the further corner of the room, as his mother had come in, where he made known to her his plan.

'Last night,' said he, 'after you and Ruth had gone to bed, I heard father and mother talking. It made me feel so sad I could not go to sleep. She had been bringing in the clothes, and kept coughing as she always does when she works hard. Father told her she must go to taking that doctor's stuff, that did her so much good last winter. At first she did not answer, but pretty soon I saw her put up her hand and brush away a tear. 'There are so many things to be bought for the children,' she said after awhile, 'that I don't like to spend money for medicine. I don't often cough so much.'

'I know that, too,' replied father, 'but you must attend to your health. What should we do without you?'

'I sometimes think,' said mother, 'that my work is almost done, and if it is God's will to call me away, he will provide for you and the children.'

'I couldn't stay to hear any more, for I had to run into the entry to keep from sobbing aloud. O, Ellen, what could we all do without mother?'

The young girl turned around and gave her mother a piercing glance, as if to satisfy herself that her brother had cause for his solicitude, and then asked, 'But what can you, or both of us do to help her?'

'I mean somehow to buy her a bottle of that medicine,' exclaimed Thomas, impressively, 'but how to do it is the question. Dr. Jones had a load of wood carted to-day, and he wants a man to saw it. I would go to-morrow afternoon and ask him to give me the job, and take the medicine for pay, only father wants his wood piled up to-morrow before the snow comes.

Ellen stood for a moment, returning her brother's gaze, then said eagerly, 'Ruth and I will pile it for you. We'll get up very early and do our stint before breakfast, and then we shall have the whole afternoon.'

Thomas joyfully accepted that offer, and readily obtained the job from the kind physician. Before night he had piled the two cords in the shed, and sawed nearly a quarter of it.

'Well, my little man,' said the Doctor, driving into the yard as Thomas was hanging up the saw preparatory to leaving.—'How much have you earned this afternoon?'

A bright thought flashed through the boy's mind, and in true Yankee style he answered the question by asking, 'Doctor, how much a bottle was that cough medicine you gave mother last winter?'

'Half a dollar, I think. Is she sick again?'

The boy then communicated his wishes, and with a flushed face inquired of the doctor if he would be willing to let him have one bottle to carry home with him.

The good man was evidently moved by this unexpected proposal. He made no reply, except to invite the boy to his office.

When there he talked to him more freely, and ended by giving him a small powder for his mother, with directions for taking it, in addition to the desired cough medicine, and promised to call himself the next day.

An hour later, Thomas sat with his sisters by the fire, and communicated to them the joyful result of his afternoon's labor.—They then proposed to give the medicine to their mother, as a token of affection from her three children, 'for,' urged Thomas, 'I could not have done it if you had not helped me.'

To say that Mrs. Grant was gratified, would but feebly express her emotion, when the love-token was placed in her hands.

With moistened eyes she gave each of them a kiss, and then added in a subdued voice, 'God will reward you, my dear ones. The blessing affixed to the fifth commandment will be yours, for you have indeed honored your mother.'

God blessed them in rendering the medicine effectual in restoring the health of their mother, whose life was prolonged for many years. She saw her children grow up to be useful, happy and respected by all who knew them.

"Eyes Open."

'Our minister said in his sermon last evening,' said Mrs. Beech, the wife of a prosperous wholesale dry goods merchant on Market street, as she dusted her mantel of porcelain and marble, on Monday, 'that he who wanted to do good must keep a constant 'lookout' for opportunities; that God does not find work, and bring it ready fitted and prepared to the hand; but spreads the world before us, and we are to walk through it as Christ and the Apostles did, with 'eyes open,' looking for the sick and the suffering, the poor and oppressed.

'Now I am certain,' continued the lady, as she replaced a marble Diana in the center of the mantel, 'I should like to do some good every day; one feels so much better when they go to rest at night; and I'll just keep my 'eyes open' to-day, and see if I come across any opportunities that under ordinary circumstances I should let slip.'

Half an hour later Mrs. Beech was in the nursery, with the washerwoman who had come for the clothes. 'I wish, Mrs. Simms,' said she, as she heaped the soiled linen in the basket, 'that you would get Tommy's aprons ready for me by Wednesday; we are going out of town, to remain until Saturday, and I shall want a good supply on hand for such a careless little scamp as he is.'

'Well, I'll try ma'am,' said the washerwoman; 'I've got behind-hand a good deal since Sammy had the whooping cough, but now he's better, I must try to make up for lost time.'

'Has he had the whooping cough?—Poor little fellow! How old is he?' questioned the lady.

'He was three last April, ma'am.'

'And Tom is four,' mused the lady.—'Look here, Mrs. Simms, won't you just open the lower drawer of that bureau, and take out those four green worsted dresses in the corner? Tom's outgrown them, you see, since last winter, but they are almost as good as new. Now, if you want them for little Sammy, they'll do nicely, without altering I think.

'Want them, Mrs. Beech!' answered the washerwoman, with tears starting in her dim eyes—'I haven't any words to thank you, or tell what a treasure they'll be. Why, they'll keep the little fellow as warm as toast all winter.'

'Well, I'll place them on the top of the clothes,' said the lady, smiling to herself as she thought, 'My eyes have been open once to day.'

Not long afterwards Mrs. Beach was on her way to market—for she was a notable housekeeper—when she met a boy who had lived a short time in her family the year before, to do errands, wait on the door, &c. He was a bright, good-hearted boy, and had been a great favorite with the family, and Mrs. Beach had always felt an interest in him; but this morning she was in quite a hurry, and would have passed him with a cordial, but hasty, 'How are you Joseph, my boy? Do come and see us,' had it not struck her that Joseph's face did not wear its usual happy expression. She paused, as the memory of last night's sermon flashed through her mind, and asked: 'Is there anything the matter with you, Joseph? You do not look so happy as you used to.'

The boy looked up a moment, with a half-doubting, half-confiding expression, into the lady's face; the latter triumphed. 'Mr. Anderson's moved out of town,' he said, pushing back his worn, but neatly brushed cap from his hair, 'so I've lost my place; then little Mary's sick, and that makes it very bad just now.'

'So it does,' answered Mrs. Beach, her sympathies warmly enlisted. But never mind Joseph; I remember, only night before last, my brother said he would want a new errand boy in a few days, for his store, and he'd give a good one two dollars a week. Now, I'll see him to-day, and get the situation for you, if you like.'

The boy's whole face brightened up.—'Oh, I shall be so glad of it, Mrs. Beach.'

'And see here, Joseph, I'm going to market, and perhaps we can find something nice for little Mary.' The lady remembered that Joseph's mother, though a poor seamstress, was a proud woman, and felt this would be a delicate way of presenting her a gift.

She found some delicious pears and grapes and a nice chicken to make some broth for Mary, who she learned was ill with fever, before she proceeded to do her own marketing. But it was a pity that the lady did not see Joseph as he sprang into the chamber where little Mary lay moaning wearily on her bed, while her mother sat stitching busily in one corner, and held up the chicken and the fruit crying 'Good news! Good news! I've got all these nice things for Mary and a place at two dollars a week!'

O! how little Mary's hot fingers closed over the bunches of white grapes, while the sewing dropped from her mother's fingers, as the tears ran down her cheeks.

It was evening, and Mrs. Beach sat in the library absorbed in some new book, when she heard her husband's step in the hall. Though the morning had been pleasant the afternoon was cloudy, and the day had gone down in a low, sullen, penetrating rain.

'Now, Mrs. Beach loved her husband with the love of a true wife, but he was not a demonstrative man, and the first beauty and poetry of their married life had settled down into a somewhat bare, every day, matter-of-fact existence. But her heart was warm to-night—warm with the good deeds of the day, and remembering the resolution of the morning, she threw down her book and ran down stairs.

'Henry, dear" said the soft voice of the wife, 'has the rain wet you at all? Let me take off your coat for you.'

'Thank you, Mary, I don't think I am in the least injured, but you may help me, just for the pleasure of it,' and he stood still while she removed the heavy coat, with all that softness of touch and movement which belongs to a woman. She hung it up and then her husband drew her to his heart with all the old love's tenderness.

And there was music in Mrs. Beach's heart as she went up stairs—music to the words, 'Eyes open! eyes open!'

Standard of Pulpit Elaboration.

The following remarks of Judge Story, may well be considered by those who exact a severe standard of pulpit elaboration:—

"Instead," he said, in a lecture delivered some years before his death, "of listening to plain, calm, and practical expository discourses, as in former times, we have now become fastidious and exacting critics. We require every Sunday, the exertion of varied talent, dressed up with all the polished elegance and refinement of an exquisite taste. We seek—we had almost said we demand—one or more sermons to be produced every week, which would require the meditation of the most gifted mind for a whole month; and of such a quality of excellence, that no single mind in the history of the profession, ever produced twelve of them in one year.

"That is not all. The discourses must be wrought out with somewhat of a dramatic power and effect. They must be eloquent as well as instructive; pointed as well as true; vivid as well as thoughtful. They must win by their persuasive approaches, even more than they strike by their masculine reasoning. They may indeed, reprove vice with a bold and fearless confidence, if it shocks by its grossness or revolting character. They may unmask hypocrisy, and denounce error in good round terms. But they must deal gently with the frailties that are broadcast, and just hint a fault, or 'hesitate a dislike,' if it be a favorite folly of the day, which fashion has consecrated, and public opinion tolerates. Now I do not think that I exaggerate the difficulties and discouragements of the profession in our day, when I say that the demands upon the preacher for ready compositions and parochial duties, make it almost impracticable for him to attain eminence in Biblical criticism, and disable him from writing works which will be enduring monuments of his learning and ablity when he shall be gathered to his fathers.'

The Shadows of Childhood.

God bless the little children! We like their bright eyes, their happy faces, their winning ways, their rosy dreams! Nothing seems to weigh down their buoyant spirits long: misfortune may fall to their lot, but the shadows it casts across their life-path are fleeting as the clouds that come and go in an April sky. Their future may, perchance, appear dark to others, but to their fearless gaze it looms up brilliant and beautiful as the walls of a fairy palace. There is no tear which a mother's gentle hand cannot wipe away, no wound that a mother's kiss cannot heal, no anguish which the sweet murmuring of her soft, low voice cannot soothe. The warm and generous impulses of their nature have not been fettered and cramped by the cold formalities of the world; they have not yet learned to veil a hollow heart with false smiles, or hide the basest purposes beneath honied words. Neither are they constantly on the alert to search out faults and foibles with Argus-eyes; on the contrary they exercise that blessed charity which 'thinketh no evil.'

Living Beyond their Means.

'Half the fashionable people in New York,' said a gentleman the other day, 'are living beyond their means. Mr. A., occupying a house in a certain block, makes twenty thousand a year, half of which he spends. Mr. B., who lives next door, makes only ten thousand, but as his wife and daughters insist on dressing as handsomely as Mrs. A., and he is not willing to be outshone by a neighbor, he spends ten thousand also. Mr. C., who lives next door, makes but five thousand, yet, like the rest, spends ten thousand. The first is getting rich; the second will have nothing for his family when he dies, the third is sure to break, sooner or later, his failure being only a question of time.' We tho't this picture was not inapplicable to Philadelphia, though in a less degree than to our boasting, spendthrift, showy sister city. Of late years, the love of display, and the silly vanity out of which it grows, have alarmingly increased here. Hundreds of families, in consequence, are laying up for themselves certain misery in the future, and getting nothing in return except a most unsatisfied present, for between the sneers of their neighbors, who generally know the truth about them, the contempt of the wise, and the reproaches of their own consciences, they enjoy really no happiness at all.

A more miserable delusion than that under which such persons labor, cannot, indeed, be well conceived. If there is any maxim which is truer than another, it is that the only way to become rich, nay, the only way to have property, is to 'lay up something for a rainy day.' It is not always sunshine. Neither in the physical world, nor in business affairs, is it bright uninterruptedly. The cold bleak days of autumn succeed the balmy spring and rosy summer; and reactions occur in trade, involving, to a greater, or less degree, even the most prudent. Men, in the full flood tide of success, are apt to forget that the ebb is sure to meet them. The financial world is full of insolvents, most of them earning a scanty subsistence, who might have been in comfortable circumstances, if they had been provident in time. To nearly every person there comes at least one period of what some would call good luck, and if they take advantage of this, if they 'make hay while the sun shines,' their fortunes are won. But too many, instead of seizing the happy chance, and imitating the bee, which lays by in summer its winter store, only launch out into larger expenses, squander as fast as they make, and die bankrupt, or fail before they die.

But it is not only those who enjoy large incomes who are extravagant, for extravagance is a relative term, and he who earns ten dollars weekly may be as guilty of it as the merchant who realizes thousands. Perhaps, indeed, more persons with small incomes live beyond their means, than those with large. The India shawl, the Sevres China, the Abusson carpet, the service of plate, the rich mirrors, or the costly equipage, are less extravagant for the millionaire than comparatively lower priced articles for the mechanic, the clerk, or the day laborer.

He who, making but a dollar daily, squanders a shilling in beer, is more of a spendthrift than the rich man who drinks his two dollar champagne. The savings which lay the foundation of wealth, are rarer, we fear, among operatives than anywhere else. But some of the greatest fortunes which have been amassed in this country, have belonged to men who begun life as day laborers. The first dime that is laid by is the first step taken towards being a capitalist; and he who is a capitalist, even to the smallest degree, has an advantage in the rush and struggle for independence and wealth. Never live beyond your means, no matter how little your income. Every new saving will make further ones easier, will be a fresh stone in the superstructure of your fortune, will enlarge your power to make money as well as increase your hope and energy.

Phil. Ledger.

Painful but Laughable.

In 'Notes of an Army Surgeon' we find the following:

I remember one day in making my hospital rounds, a patient just arrived, presented an amputated forearm, and in doing so could hardly restrain a broad laugh; the titter was constantly on his face.

'What is the matter? This does not strike me as a subject of laughter.'

'It is not Doctor; excuse me; I lost my arm in so funny a way that I still laugh when I look at it.'

'What way?'

'Our first sergeant wanted shaving, and got me to attend to it, as I was corporal. We went together in front of his tent; I had lathered him, held his nose and was just about applying the razor when a cannon ball came, and that was the last I saw of his head or my arm. Excuse me for laughing so, Doctor, but I never saw such a thing before.'

This scene occurred during the siege of Fort Erie.

MEMOIR OF RHODE ISLAND.

1701.

Two descriptions of Freemen in the town of Newport.

From all the evidence extant on the subject, it appears that before and up to the year 1702, there were two descriptions of Freemen in the town of Newport; the first were the first proprietors or purchasers of the island and their heirs, and those to whom they had conveyed any portion of the lands with the right of commonage; all such were denominated the old freemen, who held town meetings in that capacity, for the ordering of all public or town grants of land. The second class, or new freemen, were such as had been admitted as townsmen with the general right of franchise, and who acted with the first named freemen in all town matters which did not concern the protection of, or the use of, or the granting away the lands held in common by the former.

In the year 1702 the old freemen finding that their commons were trespassed upon by others, came to a unanimous agreement to divide the lands between them, in proportion to their several and respective ownerships therein, which was surveyed and divided accordingly in the aforesaid year 1702, granting to the townsmen whatever remained of the commons not then divided among themselves, to be held by the town for the use and benefit of the whole townsmen in common forever.—The reserved commons so granted to the town and townsmen were mostly small, and many of them have since been disposed of by the town to individuals but some remain to the public to this day, viz: Two immediately above the pound on each side of the road. Another lies on the east side of the main road and adjoining the Middletown line, was wholly fenced in by William Vernon. The town beach and marsh adjoining, is also part of the original town commons, many other small gorges of land are of the same character, in various parts of the town. The proprietors appropriated in 1702, six acres for school land which was sold to aid the erection of the school house in Mill street.

The Assembly was convened at Newport by the Governor's warrant the 2d day of February, 1702—3, at which Assembly Capt Joseph Sheffield was appointed to go to England as the Colonie's general agent, but more particularly to endeavor the adjustment of the difference with Connecticut respecting the King's province. A tax of £500 current money was assessed to raise three hundred pound sterling money to defray the said agents expenses, on the several towns, viz. Newport, £168 15, Providence £96—Portsmouth £105, Warwick, £34,10s, Kingston, 93,15s, Westerly, £34,10s, Jamestown, £28,10s, Greenwich, £22,10, Shoreham, £16,10. This tax was to be paid in current money or produce at the following prices: Indian corn per bushel, 3d; barley, 2s; wheat, 4s; rye, 2s 4d; oats, 1s 2d. The other taxes were assessed on the towns, one of £200 towards building a Fort, and £150 for building a jail, and £150 for paying the Colony debts.

The following act passed. 'Be it enacted by the authority aforesaid, that the charge of entertaining the prisoners taken by Capt. Wm. Wanton, shall be paid out of her Majesty's tenths of said prizes, always provided that if the same be not allowed, by her Majesty, that the same be be paid and borne by this his Majestie's colony.'

This Assembly sent an apology to Lord Cornbury, Gov. of New York, for not complying with his requisition on them for money &c., toward maintaining the war, pleaded for their excuse the weakness of the colony, and the great expense they were at for fortifications &c.

The Assembly adjourned to meet again at Newport on the first day of April then following; at which Assembly an act passed to pay the deputies out of the General Treasury.

The Assembly met at Newport the 4th day of May, 1703, the day before the election.

SATURDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 31, 1857.

The present hard times are ascribed to various causes, and there are those who are so ungallant as to trace them in part to the extravagance of the ladies, who are censured for a reckless expenditure on dress, jewels and finery generally. To say nothing of the lack of gallantry in such a step, it, to our mind is a gross and unmerited charge, and it betokens meanness in attempting to shirk the responsibility that should fall where it belongs—on broader shoulders. It is true the ladies of America are somewhat given to dress, and along Broadway many butterflies may be seen, in season and out of season, but for every one who expends largely for articles of show, ten men may be found who squander ten times the amount in ways that they would not like to see recorded on their ledgers. There is altogether too much attention given to outward appearances in this world, and dress with many is the subject of all their thoughts and aspirations, but we believe that these are few in number when compared with those who are above such vain and foolish notions, and where can we find women who have a greater regard for the interests of their husbands, parents and brothers, than those of New England? The history of the country shows what they are capable of, and hundreds and thousands of husbands, if need be, can come forward and testify to the economy and watchful care over their interest expressed and felt by their wives and daughters. And had their counsel been heeded, it is more than probable that the present embarrassing state of things would never have taken place. Women dread to see those in whom they take a lively interest, pushing out beyond their depth in commercial affairs, and there is hardly one that would not rather have less, obtained with less risk, than the prospect of a fortune rapidly made with the chances of losing all on the cast. And when the hour of adversity comes, when all our fond dreams of golden heaps and hours of ease are swept away, when the foundation on which we have built our hopes proves but rolling sand; how quickly woman casts aside the trifles that amused her and becomes indeed a ministering angel. Her sympathies are aroused and she seeks to alleviate, to encourage and sustain us. But man cannot bear up under a reverse with half the fortitude, or really with anything like the spirit that animates a woman. He rushes on at railroad speed, bound to blaze or to go off in smoke; dreams all night of heaps of gold and years of pleasure, cracks on the steam as soon as it is day, and is off like a rocket in pursuit of the wealth that is to crown his hopes. The bubble bursts of course; a good many of them have collapsed of late, and the disappointed engineers ascribe all the fault to the tenders, who, ten to one, have but complied with their wishes to keep up appearances.

The times are sadly out of joint, but the women have had nothing to do with it. Here and there may be found (we have seen many of them in Newport the past summer) those whose reckless expenditure on dress has cramped, and finally disabled, their husbands; but women, as a class, have had no more to do with our financial troubles than the man in the moon. If the secrets of many homes were revealed, it would be found that they have counseled and advised prudence in business, and economical habits, but their advice has not been heeded; the world has become inflated, rotten, in fact, and the present overthrow is the natural consequence of over-trading. This is bad enough in itself, and for a long time we shall feel the effects of it, but it does not help the matter any by attempting to lay the blame where it does not belong, to say nothing of the unmanliness of such a course.

The New York correspondent of the Boston Transcript gives an interesting account of an invention, described in part below, which will recommend itself to every one who now employs pen, ink and paper as a means of communication, and its advantages over other methods of recording one's thoughts must be obvious to all:—

"A son of our medical Nestor, Dr. Francis, has been long engaged in perfecting a machine whereby every man may become his own printer. By an ingenious arrangement, keys, like those of a piano, by the pressure of a finger, stamp on paper, at will, the letters of the alphabet, and thus seated at the instrument, you have only to spell out the required words and indicate them by touching the ivory letter, and forthwith your language is neatly transferred to paper in duplicate; thus the diplomat can put in type his original despatch and the copy thereof, the merchant his letter, and the bard his verses. Think of the comfort and convenience of such an article! As a piece of furniture it is compact and elegant, and the friends of Samuel W. Francis, who witnessed the operation of this excellent machine, when privately exhibited last week, were delighted and astonished. The young inventor has taken out patents in France, England and the United States."

Brigham Young has defied the United States Government, and has openly declared his intention to burn the prairie, to cut off the food of horses, and to burn the city of Utah, rather than it should fall into the hands of the Gentiles. He has caused a number of those supposed to be disaffected to be arrested and inhumanly treated, and in some cases death has followed. The laws of the land are set at defiance and the rights of citizens are in no way respected, and this thing must continue till the United States steps in and puts Brigham out, when there are enough now under his sway who would gladly aid in bringing about a reform. It is a disgrace that in the middle of the nineteenth century, and on the soil of America, such diabolical acts should go unpunished.

The death of Crawford is announced. This is a public loss and the whole country will sadly feel his death. He has been taken away in the midst of his usefulness, and at a time when all eyes were turned to him to erect the beautiful and most artistic monument to the memory of Washington.—But while we regret that the work cannot rise from perfect form under his hand, we may well be grateful that he perfected the design and so arranged all matters connected with it, that it may be completed in accordance with his plan by others who have been instructed in the matter.

The new way to extract the honey from the hive is to stupify the bees with chloroform, which is easily done, and without injury to the bees. It takes about twenty minutes to perfect the operation, at the expiration of which time the bees are all found to be in a sound sleep, when the desired quantity of honey can be secured, and as they recover, the bees will resume their ordinary habits. This is much better than resorting to the use of sulphur.

The New York Tribune mentions among other novelties, that of silk for sails. It is reported that silk sails possess strength, flexibility and lightness; they absorb less water than other sails, and dry quicker; when wet they lose none of their flexibility, and in the roughest of weather are so easily handled that sailors would rather reef one of them several times than another once.

The Boston Journal proposes that not only money letters received at the dead letter office be returned, but that all others there received be remailed to the writer, as they are frequently of value, even if they contain no article that the law requires should be returned.

We learn from the New Bedford Mercury that no less than eighteen out of the twenty-eight whaling ships in port, will be hauled up for the winter and the repairing and fitting of them will be postponed till Spring.

The catch of fish and the quantity of oil brought in by the Labrador fleet is fully up to that of last year, and no lives have been lost the present season.

We are requested to say that Rev. Mr. Dickerson will repeat, by request, to-morrow evening, his sermon on the times, preached a few weeks ago at Zion Church.

The resistance which is sometimes experienced by bringing two highly polished and perfectly flat surfaces together, is familiar to every mechanic.—Two leaden balls, not weighing above a pound each, not touching on more (according to calculation) than one-thirtieth of a square inch of surface, have lifted upwards of one hundred and thirty lbs. avoirdupoise, the balls being first finely planed by the edge of a sharp knife and then equally pressed together with a considerable force and gentle turn of the hand. The force of adhesion between two brass plates of about four and a half inches diameter, and slightly smeared with fat or grease, is so great as to resist the force of two strong men to separate them. Two cylinders of glass, about two inches in diameter, heated to the degree of boiling water, and joined together by means of melted tallow lightly put between them, adhere with a force equal to that above. The adhesion of solids to fluids has also been investigated by experiments, and it has been found that the surfaces of different metals adhere to the same fluid with very different degrees of intensity. Gold adheres to a surface of mercury with a force of four hundred and forty-six pounds, while copper adheres to it with a force of only one hundred and forty-two.

A remarkable distinction between the effects usually attributed to friction and adhesion may be seen from the following experiment: Two bodies, which adhere together with a force of one hundred and thirty pounds, when the separation force acts at right angles to the adhering surfaces, may be separated with a force equal to a few ounces, when the force acts in the same line with the surfaces, or so as to make them slide over each other. Friction and adhesion are both diminished by a motive, however small, communicated to the fibres or particles of the adhering surfaces. Two brass cylinders requiring sixty or seventy pounds to separate them, will fall asunder of their own weight, if the edge of a knife is drawn slowly along one of their edges, in the same manner that a balance will vibrate when it is poised, by communicating a slight tremor to the fulcrum or beam, by drawing a sharp edge over it. A bolt or a nail may often be started by a slight blow let fall near it, when no mechanical means could overcome its adhesion by a mere pressure.

The times are "getting no better fast," and the fact that there is a lack of confidence tends in a great measure to delay the return of trade into its old channels. There is nothing now going on in the way of business, and no one seems disposed to take up any new enterprise, while matters are so out of joint. The merchant has to resort to "a reduction in prices," to get off his goods, the manufacturer cannot sell, nor can he command the means to "keep the mill agoing," and the mechanic is idle, from no fault of his. And thus, we fear, all will remain in an unsettled state till Spring puts new energies into men, and the troubles of the day are forgotten in the bright hopes for the future. In the meantime we must get through the winter as best we can. The price of many kinds of provisions are coming down—flour is quoted now in New York at considerably less than five dollars—and with barns well filled, it is not unreasonable to hope that there will be no very great amount of suffering during the coldest of the weather. In such times no man has a right to be extravagant, or expend largely on the gratification of his taste, for all that he has over and above the amount necessary for the support of his own household should be kept in reserve for those who have less of this world's goods, and who had rather suffer in silence than ask for aid.

Quite a number of residents in this city have left, or are about leaving, for the West, and some of these we learn are bound for Kansas. The greater number of emigrants are Irish, who are out of work, and who look for employment in a more distant field, where there is a wider scope and less competition. There is work enough to be had, and if those who are in want of it could always be directed to the right quarter, it would be well. The Galena Advertiser says that ten thousand hands could find steady employment in the lead mines in that vicinity, and there is always a call there for laborers. Let those who are out of employ think of this, and not go out in search of work without the certainty of finding it.

The factories generally are stopping, and large numbers of operatives are cast out to support themselves as best they can. New York has already a large population out of work, and it is stated that in Philadelphia and its vicinity the number now idle cannot be less than 30,000 or 40,000, counting males, females, adults and minors.

On the evening of the 19th ult., a fire in Chicago destroyed twelve stores, consuming property to the value of seven hundred thousand dollars. The Press says:—

"It is in sad, but too painfully strong evidence that the fire, which originated in the five-story building Nos. 108 and 111 South Water street, was caused by carelessness, or drunken recklessness of the participants in a drunken debauch of clerks and abandoned females they had made their companions and associates in a Sabbath's night revel.—Early after the alarm was given, those first on the ground saw females in a state of dishabille, and some of them, with other occupants of the upper stories, well nigh in a state of nudity, making their escape from the building. It should be added that the same phenomena were witnessed in the Lake street blocks."

The loss of life was great, but the number of those who perished by the falling of buildings is not yet known.

The surveying steamer Arctic has returned from her cruise, having arrived at Halifax, and her report of deep sea soundings, in depths varying from eight hundred fathoms to three miles, is very interesting. In every instance specimens of the bottom were brought up, and these, at first sight, appeared to be composed of blue mud, but a microscopic examination revealed the fact that the substance was, in reality, that which marked the soundings of the telegraphic plateau. The temperature of the water in all those soundings was also recorded, and it is very remarkable that at great depths there is a degree of cold unknown on the surface. At a depth of a thousand fathoms the thermometer gave ten degrees, and in twelve hundred fathoms one thermometer gave ten degrees and another eight.

We should like to learn the experience of our farmers in the culture of the Sorghum. With many we see that the quantity grown is still standing, though cut off by the frost, but we have heard from some how it is liked for fodder, and know not whether any attempt has been made to extract the juice and convert it into syrup. We hope to hear from them in this particular, and would like to know the general impression in regard to it as a crop.

Stocks, the great flour manufacturer in New York, has given out that he is ready to supply the whole city with bread at the cost of flour; that is, for every pound of flour he will give one pound of bread, and as flour is worth now four cents per pound, bread will be sold by him at four cents per pound, subject to every rise and decline in the price of flour.

We have had a long and disagreeable storm from the east since our last, but yesterday a westerly breeze came to our relief and dispelled the clouds that had so long hid the rays of the sun. We look now for the Indian summer.

Mr. Thurston will commence his winter term of Singing School on Monday evening next, which will be held in the Newport Musical Institute Hall. As he has been very successful heretofore, a large class may be expected.

A new dodge in the book trade in England, is to put in a new title page, when it is found that the old one fails to sell the edition off in a reasonable time.

Dr. John Bowen, the present Bishop of Sierra Leone, is a Welshman, and at the age of eighteen went to Canada, where he made himself a farm.

In Paris, a man may dine for twopence. In the neighborhood of the Marche des Innocents, there is a certain enterprising Madame Robert who daily feeds some six thousand workmen, in the open air, yet sheltered from the weather. Her daily bill of fare is cabbage soup, a slice of bouilli (beef), a piece of bread and a glass of wine.

That story needs modifying a little. The customer is furnished with a bowl of soup and a piece of bread; then a large fork is placed in his hand and he is permitted to make one lunge with it at the pieces of meat swimming round in the cauldron of soup, and if he secures a piece, well and good; if not, he eats his soup and bread. But if he be a regular customer, and should be so unfortunate as to miss the meat in his lunges for several successive days, then the proprietor kindly considers the case, and extracts a piece for him.

Mr. F. B. Peckham, Jr., gave another of his readings from the poets, at Aquidneck Hall, on Thursday evening, and he showed taste both in the selection and delivery of the various pieces read, or, rather, recited on the occasion. The audience was hearty in its applause, and we were gratified with an opportunity of listening to him on the occasion.

Mademoiselle Rachel's health is rapidly failing, and there is but little hope of her recovery.

OUR BOOK TABLE.

Household Words, for November, is received, and we find that it has passed into new hands, and is now published by John Jansen, of New York. It is printed, as heretofore, from the plates imported in advance, so that the issue is simultaneous on both sides of the Atlantic, and with Dickens to manage it, it cannot fail to interest its numerous readers. In many respects it is unequalled, and its pages are freely drawn upon by periodicals and newspapers, in this country, for articles, tales, &c.

The Atlantic Magazine.—This is the title of a new magazine, published by Phillips, Sampson & Co, Hammett, agent, the first number of which has just appeared, and we have only time to acknowledge its receipt as we go to press. It is a model of elegance in typography, and its contents, no doubt, are of the best, for the finest talents in America and Europe have been engaged on it, and it promises to take a leading place in periodical literature.

Blackwood's Magazine is received from Leonard Scott & Co., at the hand of C. E. Hammett, Jr. Bulwer's last novel is continued, and this is in itself enough to recommend the number to attention. The other papers are on Modern Light Literature, Teaching and Training, and many other subjects of like interest to its numerous and appreciating readers.

Littell's Living Age, for the week, lacks for nothing in the way of interesting and entertaining matter.

STATE OF RHODE ISLAND AND PROVIDENCE PLANTATIONS.
BY THE GOVERNOR:
A PROCLAMATION.

In conformity with the pious usage of our venerable ancestors, and in compliance with the laws, I, Elisha Dyer, Governor of the State of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations, do issue this, my proclamation, appointing THURSDAY, the 26th day of November next, as a day of Public Thanksgiving to Almighty God, for the manifold mercies that we, the people of this State, have received.

Our lives have been preserved. We have been protected from famine and pestilence. We have had continued unto us the full enjoyment of all our civil and religious privileges. Peace has been maintained in our land. The gracious promise of "seed time and harvest," by which our whole country is so generously blessed, has been fulfilled.

Above all, our grateful acknowledgements are due for the religion of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, which, in our prosperity, directs us to the more enduring riches of eternity, and in adversity provides us with an unfailing source of consolation and highest hope.

And I do earnestly request the co-operation of my fellow citizens throughout the State, in a proper observance of the day, by abstinence from all unnecessary labor and attendance upon public worship, and in the exercise of that benevolence which makes itself doubly blessed.

Given under my hand and seal of this State, this twenty-eighth day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and fifty seven, and of Independence the eighty second.

ELISHA DYER.

By his Excellency's command.
JOHN R. BARTLETT, Secretary of State.

Steam Boiler Explosion at Providence—Five Buildings Destroyed.—A steam boiler in Heyward's India Rubber works exploded Thursday morning, and the five buildings constituting the works were destroyed. 200 people were at work in the establishment. Many of the girls jumped out of the windows, and some of them were injured, but none very seriously.—The boiler was thrown 300 feet, and in its course carried away the side of a house where the family were at breakfast. Two of the workmen were severely injured, but it is hoped not fatally. The loss is $50,000. Insured in New York. The cause of the explosion was the lack of water in the boiler.

Shaving Notes without any Capital.—In the course of the trial in the supreme court, yesterday, of the case of Luke Green against Peleg W. Gardiner, Mr. Thomas A. Doyle testified, that while he was cashier of the Grocers and Producers Bank, one of the directors of that bank, now deceased, was in the habit of buying paper of the bill-brokers, giving therefor his check payable some days ahead, and before it became due, would get the same paper discounted to pay his check. Sharper practice than this was never sworn to in a court of law. Men frequently transact a large business without capital; but we never before heard of a man shaving notes without money.

Among a cargo of slaves from Africa, landed near Havana, was the eldest son of one of the African Princes. It seems that he had been sent by his father to the factory to deliver the slaves, and while there was induced to visit the schooner. The captain sent him below to keep company with his father's captives. Fortunately he could talk French and Portuguese, and made known his history. He was sent to the deposit of the Emancipadoes, where, according to Spanish law, he must be put to service for eight years before he can be free to return to his home in Africa.

Rhode Island State Normal School.—The dedication of the rooms fitted for the Rhode Island State Normal School, took place at Bristol on Tuesday; Gov. Dyer presided on the occasion. A dedicatory hymn, written for the occasion by Hon. Wm. M Rodman, was sung, after which the Governor delivered a brief address. Speeches were also made by John Kingsbury, Esq., Commissioner of Public Schools, Mr. Colburn, principal of the Normal School, Lieut. Governor Turner, and others.

At a husking frolic in Hitchcockville Connecticut, a few evenings since, 200 bushels of corn were husked, forty girls were kissed, five were engaged, and everybody got home before 10 o'clock. They are very smart people, over there in Connecticut.

The Providence Transcript states that all the factories owned and run by Messrs. A. & W. Sprague, stopped on the 23d inst., thus throwing about 3000 persons out of employment.

The Providence Tribune says that the star-fish (five-fingers) have made sad havoc among the oysters on "Long Bed," destroying not less than $500 worth belonging to one person alone.

The number of immigrants who arrived at New York from the 1st of January up to Wednesday last was 155,643. The number up to the same date last year was 114,582.

A Russian journal announces the number of medical men killed in her service in the late war at 382. Of these, ten were Americans.

St. Louis, Oct. 26, 1857.

The Republican of this city publishes a discourse delivered by Elder C Kimball, at Salt Lake city, on August 30. Strong grounds are taken against the United States Government, and a determination expressed to resist its troops to the last extremity.—The women and children are called upon to arm themselves, and the people generally exhorted to lay up their grain and otherwise prepare for the conflict. During this discourse Kimball says, 'We are the Kingdom of God—the state of Deseret, and will have Brigham Young for Governor just so long as he lives.'

Brigham Young made a speech equally bold in declarations of hostility to the United States.

'There is a saying that 'hard words break no bones.' The question of authority of the United States over its own territory, if still disputed, will soon be settled by other authorities than ex-Governor Young and elder Kimball; and those gentlemen had better 'stand from under' when the decision is made.

Great Yield of Potatoes.—Mr. Geo. W. Lovell, of Smithfield, on the 27th of May, planted about three bushels of the potato known by the name of the 'Davis Seedling.' The yield from these three bushels is sixty-one bushels of extra large mercantile potatoes, and three bushels of small ones, making sixty-four bushels in all. The land was greensward last spring and not a spoonful of manure was put upon or into it. Mr. Lovell has presented us with one bushel of these potatoes.—They resemble the 'Dovers' in color and shape, but are larger; and as to eating quality, we pronounce them good. Mr. Lovell says those brought us were not picked, but are a fair sample of the whole lot, as any one may see who will call and examine, on his premises, near the old 'Smith Thayer Tavern.' With these facts before us, we say Mr. Lovell has beat everybody else in the state in the potato line. If this is not so, will our agricultural friends please make it manifest?

The Caloric Engine.—There is a fine steam yacht, which has been plying in our harbor during the past ten days, with one of these engines in her, and although she has been plying almost daily, she has consumed only one cord of oak wood in all that time. The engine being suited to either wood or coal, another remarkable feature about it is, that after the fires have been wholly extinguished, sufficient heat is retained in the metal of the engine, providing it has been thoroughly warmed, to propel the boat about two miles. The yacht is about fifty feet long, and has an eight feet paddle wheel, which works about thirty turns per minute, giving a rate of speed equal to about nine knots an hour. So Capt. Ericsson's idea will possibly be brought to more extensive and practical use, yet.—N. Y. Express.

Pollock Fishing Down East.—The Machias Union publishes the result of pollock fishing near that place one or two days last week. From the statement it appears that there were about sixty persons fishing from two to ten or twelve hours each, and that they caught in the aggregate 3314 pollock, which would make 133½ quintals of dried fish, worth $321—the oil being worth as much more—or $602 in all. This is an average of over $10 for each person engaged in fishing—Many of them were boys; and the average time occupied was only five hours each.

A Caution to City Fathers.—By the neglect of the city authorities of Concord, N. H., to remedy a defect in the sidewalk in that city, which would have cost only one dollar, the city has been mulcted in nearly four thousand dollars for casualities caused thereby. Gov. Hubbard recovered $800 from the city, for having an arm broken by falling, and a few days afterwards Mrs. Harraden fell in the same place, and sustained such severe injuries that she recovered damages to the amount of $2,728 and costs.

A summary of the failures and suspensions in this country since the first of August, makes the whole number 952, of which 448 were in New York, 85 in Pennsylvania, 120 in Massachusetts, 40 in Ohio 7 in Kentucky, 3 in Indiana, 2 in Washington City, 5 in Minnesota, 45 in Illinois, 7 in Maryland, 21 in Iowa, 23 in Michigan, 18 in Missouri, 23 in New Jersey, 5 in Rhode Island, 24 in Wisconsin, and 58 in other states. The total liabilities of all these are estimated at ninety millions of dollars.

Several large and extensively known houses in New York have signified their willingness to receive consignments of flour and grain from the west, among whom, besides Messrs. Spofford & Tileston, Messrs. Grinnell, Minturn & Co., and others have been mentioned as willing to do the same thing, and to pay freight and charges, with the view of aiding in the movement of breadstuffs from the interior to the seaboard, by which the present pressure may be alleviated and exchanges equalized.

Put Down Your Rents.—A journeyman mechanic told us on Saturday that his landlord had come voluntarily to him that morning, and assured him that he had reduced his rent for the quarter entered upon on the 1st of October, from $37 50 (per 3 months) to $31 25. The case furnishes an excellent example, and we hope will be generally followed. Rents are altogether too high. Put them down, landlords, and your tenant will try harder and be much more likely to pay them.

Mayor Wood of New York, has issued an address to the citizens, as to the poor of the city, in which he says:—

"Over thirty thousand mechanics and laboring men and women have been suddenly deprived of employment. This number will be increased to fifty thousand before January. Our industrial population, thus upon the eve of winter, are about to be turned into the streets without protection or the means by which to live.

A Streak of Luck.—The Providence Journal corrects its statement of loss of $68,000 by the Atlantic Insurance Co., in that city, from the recent conflagration at Chicago. The loss is but $8000, and the agent of the Company in Chicago has been instructed to draw at sight for the money. The Atlantic Co. was never in a more prosperous condition than at present.

Death of Mr. Joseph Congdon.—The New Bedford Mercury announces the death in that city of Mr. Joseph Congdon, at the age of 57 years. For a period of twenty-six years he officiated as Cashier of the Mechanics Bank, of New Bedford.

"Are those bells ringing for fire?" inquired Simon of Tiberius. "No indeed," answered Tibe; "they have got plenty of fire, and the bells are now ringing for water."

Indian Names.—"Poor" or "pore," which are found to make the termination of so many Indian cities and settlements, signifies town. Thus Nagpore means the Town of Serpents—a definition, by the way, sufficiently appropriate when we reflect on the treacherous character of the Sepoys by whom it was so recently garrisoned. "Abad" and "patam" also signify town; Hyderabad being Hyder's Town, and Seringapatam—from Seringa, a name of a god Vishnoo—being the town of Seringa. Allahabad, from "Allah," God, and "abad," abode, means the abode of God; that city being the capital of Agra, the chief school of the Brahmins, and much resorted to by pilgrims. Punjaub is the country of the Five Rivers, and Doad is applied to a part of a country between two rivers.

Rhode Island Central Bank.—Some of the papers are commenting upon the statement of the Rhode Island Central Bank which shows $7,87 specie and $386,702 circulation. The bank is under temporary injunction which will probably be made perpetual. Its assets are believed to be good, and they are largely beyond its liabilities to the public. The bank, although it is owned by people out of the State, and is therefore liable to the objection that we have so often urged, is in the hands of honorable men, who have themselves suffered, and who expect to suffer still more, from their connection with it. In ordinary times we should have no hesitation in pronouncing the bills of this bank good. We still think they are. The circulation, we understand, has already been largely reduced.—Prov. Jour.

Hospital for Felines.—Bayard Taylor, in his New Volume of Travels, gives the following description of the cats of Aleppo:—"The other remarkable thing here is the hospital for cats. This was founded long ago by a rich cat-loving Mussulman, and is one of the best endowed institutions in that city. An old Mosque is appropriated to that purpose, under the charge of several directors, and here sick cats are nursed, homeless cats find shelter, and decrepit cats gracefully purr away their declining years. The whole category embraces several hundreds; and it is quite a sight to behold the corridors and terraces of the mosque swarming with them. It is calculated that there are at least, 8,000 cats in the above city.

Bad Prospect for Smokers.—It is stated that incessant rains during the last part of August and the first part of September have seriously injured the tobacco plant, and rendered it impossible to prepare the ground for laying the seed—a process which, in order to secure a productive harvest, must be performed in the beginning of September. The cultivators of the tobacco districts are offering fervent prayers to heaven that its blessing may not be withheld from this important branch of industry.

The Hon. Philip Allen, of Providence, has determined to supply the help which he has been obliged to discharge from his Print Works, with fuel free during the time they remain idle. The coal with which his yards are filled he proposes to divide among them; in addition to which he will give them house-rent free of charge. We hope such magnanimity will be an example to others who can afford to help those who are dependent on them these pressing times.

The troops composing the Utah expedition were 60 miles beyond Fort Laramie on the 22d September, all well. Captain Van Vleet who reached St. Louis from Utah on the 24th inst., was treated with much consideration by the leading men of Salt Lake City, but heard the expression of only one opinion, viz: that the troops and government officers would never gain a foothold in their dominions. Hon. J. M. Bernisel, delegate to Congress from Utah, accompanies Van Vleet.

The Poppy.—A letter received at the Patent Office from Germany, says the poppy is cultivated in southern Germany to a large extent, as a substitute for sweet oil. It has supplanted the use of the imported olive oil wholly in that country. It is further stated that the soil and climate of the New England States is highly suited for the culture of this article, and they might provide the whole Union with sweet oil, and thus save a large sum of money, which goes to France and Italy.

The Rhode Island Banks.—The statement of the condition of the Rhode Island banks out of Providence, on the 19th of October, compared with the statement of Oct. 12, shows, as we learn from the Providence Journal,

An increase in circulation of	$21,768.81
An increase of dues to other banks of	14,079.57
An increase of loans of	77,323.90
An increase of specie of	7,321.39
An increase of deposits in other banks of	22,878.91
A decrease of deposits of	43,673.28
A decrease of bills of other banks of	26,808.59

Wine Revenue.—France (says the Moniteur Vinicole) contains about 5,100,000 acres of vineyards, which are estimated to yield about 80,000,000 barrels of wine annually, or about two barrels for each inhabitant; the aggregate worth of this vintage is about $600,000,000. It should be borne in mind that the greater portion of this immense product is consumed by the French people.

There is a family of Smiths in Gilmanton, N. H., of six brothers and sisters living, five of whom have always resided in town, of the following ages—89, 85, 80, 78, 75, 73. Their aggregate is 480, which is 42 years more than that of the Norridgewock family. Their average is 80, which is 7 years above the other. One died in her 90th year, another at 75.

The Atlantic Telegraph Cable has been sold to the Red Sea Telegraph Company at $550 per mile, advance of $65 per mile on the cost. A rise of 30 per cent. in the price of gutta percha has given it this increased value. The cable is sold on account of the awkward mistake by which the two halves of the cable twist in opposite directions.

Adjourned to Tuesday, Oct. 3, at 7 o'clock, P.M.

In Convention, His Honor the Mayor presiding. After the reading of the following communication the two Boards separated:—

Mayor's Office, Newport, October, 27, 1857.

Gentlemen of the City Council:—

At the last May Term of the Court of Common Pleas, Thomas G. Hazard commenced an action against the city for damages alleged to have been sustained by him to his team, &c. in consequence of a defect in the road leading from Spring street across the foot of Thames street, to a gate at the entrance of the plaintiff's premises. The case was tried at the October Term of the Court which has just closed, and the Jury returned a verdict for the plff for twenty-five dollars and costs, amounting in all to forty-one dollars and eighty cents. It will be necessary for you to authorise the Treasurer to pay the amount of this judgment. In this connection I would suggest the propriety of directing the Street Commissioner to make such repairs on said road, from the appropriation for streets already made, as will put it in proper order, so that the city will not again be liable for damages which may be sustained thereon by persons having occasion to pass over the same. This matter should be attended to without delay while the weather is favorable for work; I am informed by the Street Commissioner that it will cost about seventy-five dollars.

On the 14th of August, 1856, the Board of Aldermen ordered a highway to be laid out from East Touro street to land of Daniel B. Fearing; Commissioners were appointed to lay out the same, and the usual forms were observed according to the statute. On the 30th September following, the Report of the Commissioners having been made, the Board of Aldermen made their final decree, and laid out the highway from the East side of Clay street, or where Dixon's Lane is forty feet wide, to the Westerly boundary of said Daniel B. Fearing's land. From this decree of the Board of Aldermen Joseph S. Clarke et ux., Robert H. Ives and Henry A. Middleton, owners of land on said highway, appealed to the Court of Common Pleas. The case of Clarke et ux., was heard at the October Term of said Court which has just closed; several preliminary legal questions arose as follows,—the appellants gave a bond to the individuals constituting the Board of Mayor and Aldermen, and not to said persons and their successors in office, or to the Mayor and Aldermen of the city; the bond was signed by the Attorney of Record of Clarke et ux., said Attorney not having a power of Attorney under seal authorising him to execute such an instrument. The Counsel for the city contended that this was not a legal bond. The Court ruled, with some doubt as to the correctness of the decision, that this was a good and sufficient bond. The Counsel for Clarke et ux. contended that as the Board of Aldermen ordered the highway to be laid out, in the first instance, from the East side of East Touro street to the Westerly line of Daniel B. Fearing's land, and as the Commissioners laid it out according to said order, the Board of Aldermen had no right in their final decree to lay out said highway for a shorter distance than they had first ordered. The Court so ruled,—and the Counsel for the city filed exceptions to these rulings, and the case has gone to the Supreme Court, where it will probably be heard on those questions of law, at the next February Term. The cases, Ives vs Mayor and Aldermen, and Middleton vs Mayor and Aldermen, in which the same questions are involved, were continued until the next term, to await the decision of the Supreme Court in the case of Clarke et ux.

On the 2d of December, 1856, the Board of Aldermen ordered a highway to be laid out from Long Lane to Malbone Lane; the usual forms were observed, and on the 24th of February, 1857, upon the reception of the Report of the Commissioners, the Board of Aldermen made their final decree and laid out the highway as requested by the petitioners. From this Decree Charles Hunter, one of the owners of land on said highway, appealed to the Court of Common Pleas. The case was heard at the last October Term of said Court, and the Jury returned a verdict for the City, and assessed the damages of Mr. Hunter at two hundred dollars, being twenty five dollars less than the Board of Aldermen awarded him; by this verdict, under the Statute, Mr. Hunter could not recover any costs of the city. The counsel for Mr. Hunter took exceptions to the ruling of the Court on questions of law, and the case has gone to the Supreme Court.

There is a note for five hundred dollars at the Aquidneck Bank, which will be due on the first of November; this note was given by the Treasurer, by direction of the City Council, on the [illegible] of May last, to replace money in the Treasury which had been used to pay another note given by the city, with the intention of having the note provided for, as I am informed, by the appropriations for the present year. The Finance Committee did not include it in their estimate of the tax for the present year, and the Treasurer used it in paying the annual installment for the reduction of the City Debt, and as the Aquidneck Bank decline to renew it, the amount must be obtained elsewhere. The loan can be had of the Coddington Five Cent Savings Bank, and I recommend that the Treasurer be directed to make a note for this purpose. This amount properly belongs to the Council of last year, and should have been included in the expenditures of that year, and not passed over to the present Council, simply for the purpose of apparently reducing the expenses of last year.

I avail myself of this occasion to make some suggestions to you in regard to providing for the poor during the approaching winter; I do not propose any immediate action, but call your attention to the matter at this early period, so that you may have opportunity for deliberation, and when necessary, be prepared to act in the most economical manner for the interests of the city and most beneficially for those who will probably be compelled to seek our fostering care and protection. In consequence of the Financial depression in all parts of the country, which has deprived and will undoubtedly continue to deprive many thousand human beings of employment by which they have heretofore supported themselves comfortably, there must inevitably be a great amount of suffering among those who are dependant on their daily labor for the sustenance of life, and aid will probably be asked by many who never before were compelled to become the recipients of the public authorities.

During the last two weeks several gentlemen have suggested a plan which has, within a few days, been recommended to other cities, viz: to purchase the chief necessaries of life at wholesale, and deal them out to the necessitous as occasion may demand, at the same rates paid by the City,—and requiring such of the recipients as are able, in part return therefore, to perform labor on the streets, or in any other manner for the City that may be deemed advisable. [illegible] what is bestowed will not be an entire charity. Others have suggested that a public meeting be called and a committee appointed in each Ward to solicit subscriptions from all who are able to give, either in large or small sums, and thus create a fund to be used in the manner and for the purposes specified. It is certain that we shall have much to do, and the only question is how and in what manner shall the means be obtained for this important duty. I feel that it is necessary that early and mature action should be had in the matter, so that when the demand is made, as the weather becomes severe, we may be fully prepared for whatever emergency may arise. Great prudence and discretion must be exercised in the dispensation of our charity, and I am satisfied that the benefits can be better and more deservingly bestowed by the City authorities than by private Relief Committees, because, as a general rule, the experience of officers enables them to know best who are most deserving.

It is for you, gentlemen, to consider what means you will adopt to meet this unexpected demand; I trust that you will take early action in the premises, so that the necessary arrangements may all be systematically made.

On the 21st July last you adopted certain Rules and Regulations for the Government of Joint Standing Committees; among them are the following:—

"5th. It shall be the duty of every Committee to report upon all matters referred to them at the next meeting of the City Council.

6th. It shall be the duty of every Committee, or some member thereof, to report to each Board at every meeting, the progress of unfinished business."

The Rules and Regulations are all excellent, especially those which I have quoted,—but we have not been governed by them any more than if they had not been adopted. There are [illegible] matters before some of the Committees which were referred at the commencement of the municipal year, and which never have been acted on; and in some cases the Committees have never had a meeting. The interests of the city as well as the rights of our constituents require that we should be prompt and faithful in the discharge of all our duties; these inexcusable delays are not only a great hindrance to the energetic dispatch of business, but they have a tendency materially to detract from the efficiency of the Government, and the proper respect which the community should have for the acts of those to whom they have confided the administration of their municipal affairs. I trust, gentlemen of the City Council, that these suggestions will be received in the same kind spirit in which they are made, and that hereafter we shall all be more prompt and expeditious in the performance of those high duties which we have all sworn well and truly to discharge.

W. H. CRANSTON, Mayor.

Wine at Two Millions a Bottle.—Some at two millions of dollars a bottle is drink that in expense, would rival the luxurious taste of barbaric splendor, when costly pearls were thrown into the wine cup to give a rich flavor to its contents.— The French Courier speaks of a wine which graced the table of the King of Wurtemburg on a late occasion, which was deposited in the cellar at Bremen two centuries and a half ago. One large case of the wine, containing 5 axhoft of 240 bottles' cost 500 rix dollars in 1624. Including the expenses of keeping up the cellar, and of the contributions, interests of the accounts, and interests on interests, an ox-hoft costs at the present time 555,657,640 dollars; a glass, or the eigth part of a bottle, is worth 340,476 rix dollars, £272,—; or at the rate of 540 rix dollars per drop. A burgomaster of Bremen is privileged to have one bottle whenever he entertains a distinguished guest, who enjoys a German or European reputation.

The fact illustrates the operation of interest, if it does not show the cost of luxury.

American Horse Victorious.—The race for the great Czarwitch Handicap, at Newmarket, England, resulted in the triumph of Mr. Tenbroeck. Thirty-four horses ran, and on the first attempt there was a dead heat between Prioress, Em... and Queen Bess; the deciding race between these three was won cleverly by Prioress by a length and a half. The success of the American horse was greeted with great cheering, and Prioress became the favorite in the betting for the Cambridgeshire stakes to be run for at Newmarket on the 27th of October. The stakes exceed £2000 sterling.

The American horse Lecompte died from an attack of the cholic. The horse ... had been stricken out from all his engagements the present year.

Truth and Poetry Combined.—One of our eminent New York Exchanges lets off the following squib, which, though the rhyme is good, contains more truth than poetry:

GHOSTLY ADVICE.

Apparently said so Bardolpho,
One night in a troublesome sleep,
Your Schnapps, dear Bardolpho, are worthless,
The Vanderveer Schnapps you should keep;
You are selling vile stuff, dear Bardolpho,
And charging full twice what it's worth,
Come down in your price, dear Bardolpho,
Your Shnapps are as mean as your birth,
Bardolpho, poor fellow, he listened,
And shook from his head to his heels.
Your words, sir, replied poor Bardolpho,
Are truth, as my soul daily feels;
Each bottle I'll put, for the future,
At half what I've sold it to-day;
But Martin and Mills will outsell me,
Their office is 14 Broadway.

Almost Everybody has heard of "Wood's Hair Restorative." That the word "Restorative," in this case, is no misnomer, we have the testimony of individuals whose elevated position in the country, as well as their acknowledged and honorable character as gentlemen, render whatever they publicly assert in the last degree reliable. Several of these have ..., personally, the hair preparation we are now speaking of, and certify to its amazing efficacy in the most public manner possible. Their certificates can be seen at the proprietor's Depot, 312 Broadway, New York, and once seen and properly appreciated, we have no hesitation in saying they will impress conviction on the most skeptical mind. Wood's Hair Restorative is, doubtless, the best article of its kind ever produced.

It does not dye, but gives life, health and beauty to the decaying, falling and dead, restoring, as if by magic, that which was supposed to be irrecoverably lost. Heads nearly bald and others nearly white, are daily being changed to their pristine beauty, and faces covered with pimples are rendered as smooth as an infant's, and blushing as a rose, all by the use of Prof. Wood's Hair Restorative.—Chicago Times.

Beware of articles purporting to produce 'results similar,' they are only abortive attempts to palm off a miserable article on the popularity of this, under a different name.

Housekeepers may not be aware that it is unsafe to use three-fourths of the Saleratus now sold as the pure article. There is no danger in using B. T. Babbitt's, as he manufactures all his Saleratus from common salt, on a new chemical principle. It is also important that all interested should know, that B. T. Babbitt's unadulterated Potash is the best article of the kind manufactured. No housekeeper should be without it, as it is almost an indispensible article for domestic purposes. The high character Mr. B.'s Potash has attained, and the neat manner in which it is put up in Tin cans, makes it preferable to any other kind in use. Manufactured and sold at 68 & 70 Washington street New York, and 38 India street, Boston. For particulars see advertisement in another column.

A Liver Remedy.—The Liver, according to Physiologists, occupies in our human economy a place second only to the heart, and consequently is one of the greatest dispensers of health and happiness or sickness and disease. To keep the liver in a proper performance of its duties is to keep the system in a state of health, and free from nearly all bodily ills. Sanford's Invigorator is a great Regulator of the Liver. It instils into it new life and vigor, strengthens it and invigorates it, curing the fountain from whence so many streams of disease flow. We say to all who are troubled with any derangement of the Liver, such as Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Sick Headache, Billiousness or debility of system, do not fail to try Dr. Sanford's Liver Invigorator.

New Bedford Oil Market.

Since our last, we have to report sales for export of 400 bbls sperm oil, principally for cash, at a price understood as somewhat lower than our previous quotations in consequence of the general depression of the money market. In whale there is nothing doing. In whalebone we notice sales of 7000 lbs Ochotsk at 110 cts.

FOR SALE.

THE large and valuable Farm belonging to the heirs of the late Gideon Peckham, of Middletown, will be sold on reasonable terms and possession given immediately, if required, on application to either of the subscribers. The farm is situated on the east shore of the island, partly in Middletown and partly in Portsmouth. It contains one hundred and fourteen acres, old measure, and will be sold at a price that will make it an object for agricultural purposes. The soil is rich, the land is free from stone, and the lots are all handsomely laid off and securely walled. There is also a thrifty orchard in good bearing order, a large dwelling house, barns, cribs, &c. It is easy of access both by land and water, and its shore privileges are unsurpassed. The water front is about one hundred rods, where gravel from the finest to the coarsest can be procured in untold quantities, and there is also a large quarry of building stones, easily worked and inexhaustible. The prospect from every part of the farm is delightful. To the north the view extends to Mount Hope Bay and on the south it takes in a wide range over the southern portion of the island and the ocean. For building sites it could be turned to good account, and to divide it into building lots would be attended with but little expense. apply to BENEDICT PECKHAM,

PERISTALTIC LOZENGES!

A POSITIVE CURE FOR

Costiveness and Dyspepsia.

THE PROPRIETOR, by the advice of the leading physicians of Boston, is introducing his Peristaltic Lozenges throughout the country.—They are tonic as well as laxative, and differ from all physical pills. They are superceding every other remedy for costiveness and its results—viz.

PILES, HEADACHE, DIZZINESS, BILLIOUSNESS, OPPRESSION OF FOOD, FLATULENCY, SICK HEADACHE, PALPITATION, LIVER COMPLAINT.

They are safe and effective for females who suffer from costiveness, giving tone to the whole system. For Irregularities and Suppressions, especially of young persons having little exercise, they are most effectual, giving color to the blood and restoring nature.

The Peristaltic Lozenges cause no pain, are agreeable, and so compact that they may be carried in the vest pocket, and are therefore just the thing for travelers.

Mayor's Office, Boston, August 1, 1856.

I have personally known Mr. J S Harrison, during the past ten years, as a practical Chemist and apothecary. His statements are worthy of entire confidence. DR. SANFORD'S
INVIGORATOR,
OR LIVER REMEDY.

THIS IS ONE OF THE GREATEST SCIENTIFIC MEDICAL discoveries ever made, and is daily working cures almost too great to believe. It cures as if by magic, even the first dose giving benefit, and seldom more than one bottle is required to cure any kind of Liver Complaint, from the worst Jaundice or Dyspepsia to a common head ache, all of which are the result of a Diseased Liver.

The Liver is one of the principal regulators of the human body, and when it performs its functions well, the powers of the system are fully developed. The stomach is almost entirely dependent on the healthy action of the Liver for the proper performance of its functions. When the stomach is at fault, the bowels are at fault, and the whole system suffers in consequence of one organ—the Liver—having ceased to do its duty. For the diseases of that organ, one of the proprietors has made it his study, in a practice of more than twenty years, to find some remedy wherewith to counteract the many derangements to which it is liable.

To prove that this remedy is at last found, any person troubled with Liver Complaint in any of its forms, has but to try a bottle, and conviction is certain.

A compound has been formed by dissolving gums, and extracting that part which is soluble for the active virtues of the medicine. These gums remove all morbid or bad matter from the system, supplying in their place a healthy flow of bile, invigorating the stomach causing food to digest well, purifying the blood, giving tone and health to the whole machinery, removing the causes of the disease, and effecting a radical cure without any of the disagreeable after effects, felt by using Calomel or Mineral Poison, that are usually resorted to.

KEEP COOL.

JUST RECEIVED a large lot of Refrigerators, Schooley's patent, different sizes, and upright form, highly finished, suitable for dining rooms or pantries.

These Refrigerators are superior to all others that have been invented, from the fact that every article placed in the preserving chamber is kept perfectly free from moisture, and the flavor of one article is not imparted to another. They were sold last season to the following gentlemen, who can vouch for the above statements: H Y Cranston, Benj. Finch, Henry Bull, and W C Cozzens—Please call and examine for yourselves at the Furniture ware-rooms, 4 & 5 Washington square.

BROWNELL'S VENTILATOR,
PATENTED SEPT. 16, 1856.

The following is a list of sizes with the price of each annexed, of BROWNELL'S VENTILATOR which for all purposes where ventilation and a strong draf are required; and are particularly designed for Rail Road Cars, Public Buildings, Smoky Chimnies & Caboose & Cabin pipes

The advantage proposed by this ventilator over all others is, it gives a uniform draft to a chimney, and at the same time excludes water, thus doing away with two great evils—a back draft and drippings down the chimney. The arrangement of this ventilator is very simple; it can be easily adjusted to any use for which it may be required, and it is not liable to get out of order.

USE THE BEST.

James — JAMES PYLE'S DIETETIC SALERATUS is acknowledged by all who try it, the purest and best article in use. It is entirely free from the caustic impurities of common Saleratus, so destructive to the digestive organs, while for making Biscuit, Cake and all kinds of Pastry admirably light, it excells the best baking soda, and requires less shortening to produce the desired richness. Parents who regard their childrens health, should use no other.
It is sold at all the groceries, in 1 lb., 1-2 lb., and 1-4 lb packages, with the name of JAMES PYLE thereon, without which none is genuine.

PURE POTASH
IN TIN CANS,
B. T. BABBITT, 68 & 70 Washington Street, N. Y., & 38 India street Boston.

The Proprietor of this POTASH has for many years seen the necessity of having some reliable standard for the strength of Potash. The adulteration has become so general, that it has, notwithstanding its valuable properties, gone nearly out of use. The proprietor has taken the responsibility of subscribing his name to every package, and warrants the strength to be uniform, and when used always producing the same results. Potash many times is adulterated with salt, which is destruction in making soap; it makes the ladies say they did not have good luck, &c. One other reason that Potash has gone out of use, is it is so unpleasant to handle, being put up in wooden casks, and becoming a liquid in many cases, and very troublesome to the retailers.

Now the Proprietor first obtains pure potashes, always being the same strength, and producing the same results; and will warrant it in all cases, if the directions are followed, to produce double the effect in making soaps, and all other purposes for which Potash is used, with full directions for making the Best of Soft, Hard, or Fancy Soaps. It is made with little trouble; the ley is all prepared in five or ten minutes. 1 lb. Potash warranted to cut 5 lbs. of grease into good soap. 12 lbs. will make one barrel of beautiful Soft Soap.

Directions for making Soft soap; Directions for making Hard Soap; Direction for Laundries and Hotels; Directions for cleaning cotton waste that has been used for cleaning machinery of all kinds; Directions for using this Potash in place of Sal Soda; Directions for sticking India-rubber soles on Shoes. All the above directions accompany the can.
May 30.

B. T. BABBITT'S.
BEST SALERATUS,

Is prepared entirely different from other saleratus. All the deleterious matter extracted in such a manner as to produce Bread, Biscuit and all kinds of Cake, without containing a particle of Saleratus when the Bread or Cake is baked; thereby producing wholesome results. Every particle of Saleratus is turned to Gas and passes through the Bread or Biscuit while baking, consequently nothing remains but Common Salt, Water and Flour. You will readily perceive by the taste of this saleratus that it is entirely different from other Saleratus. When you purchase one paper you should take the old paper with you, and be very particular and get the next exactly like the first (name and picture, twisted Loaf-Bread, with a glass effervescing water on the top, as you see in the bill.)

Full directions for making Bread with sour milk and Cream Tartar, and all kinds of Pastry; also for making Soda Water; also directions for making Seidlitz Powders, will accompany each package.
B. T. BABBITT, 68 and 70 Washington street, N. Y. and 38 India street, Boston. May 30.

A BEAUTIFUL HEAD OF HAIR.

"The improved Rosemary, as now made by J. Russell Spalding, combines everything (in our opinion) required to give richness, beauty, and permanence to the hair. It is neat and cleanly, free from all injurious minerals and oils, and can do no possible harm. The perfume is delicate and agreeable. We advise all to use it who desire a clean, healthy scalp, and beautiful head of hair."

For forcing the growth of the hair, preventing its falling off, and restoring it to bald places, this simple mixture of

has probably been used with as much success as any known article.

POSITIVE EVIDENCE.—The following persons can be found or their certificates shown:—Mrs. L. Sweeny, 25 Rowe Street, Boston—restored hair to bald head, and from a gray to black color; Rev. C. W. Dennison, Buffalo, N. Y.; Francis Adams, Esq., Proprietor of the Morning News; Rev. R. S. Cobb, Esther Christian Freeman; Benjamin Seavey, Broomfield House—all in Boston. Mr. Hoffman Editor of German paper, and his wife, Eva, say it is the best article for the hair to be found, and they "have tested foreign articles—we can recommend it with our best conscience;" Mrs. D. Taft, Cambridge, Mass.; A. F. Wood, New Haven Conn; Hon. Charles Hunt, Lowell Mass.; Daniel B. Connor, 212 Congress street, Boston; C. H. Stocking, Esq., Trinity College Hartford Conn., all say it is excellent. Certificates by the hundreds could be added to the list, if space would permit. They can be shown to convince all that this popular preparation is decidedly one of the nicest and best articles in the world for the hair.

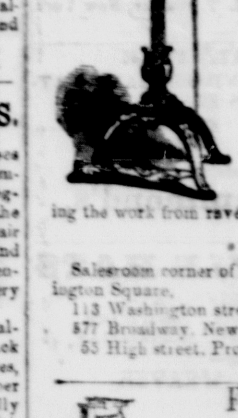

Call for J. RUSSELL SPAULDING'S ROSEMARY and take no other. Price 25 cents and $1 per bottle.

Sewing Machines.
Price from $12,00 to $26,00.
S. F. PRATT'S PATENT.

These Sewing Machines are giving universal satisfaction wherever they have been introduced.—Being extremely simple and easy to manage, are not liable to get out of order. They do not occupy more than half the space of other Sewing Machines, and will execute as much work, and in a much better manner, in the same space of time as twenty persons can by hand, sewing 1000 stitches per minute. When this machine is stopped working it fastens the thread, thereby preventing the work from ravelling.

Rx AYER'S
Cathartic Pills
(SUGAR COATED,)
ARE MADE TO
CLEANSE THE BLOOD AND CURE THE SICK.
Invalids, Fathers, Mothers, Physicians, Philanthropists, read their Effects, and judge of their Virtues.
FOR THE CURE OF

Headache, Sick Headache, Foul Stomach.
PITTSBURG, PA., May 1, 1856.
DR. J. C. AYER. Sir: I have been repeatedly cured of the worst headache any body can have by a dose or two of your Pills. It seems to arise from a foul stomach, which they cleanse at once. If they will cure others as they do me, the fact is worth knowing.
Yours with great respect, ED. W. PREBLE, Clerk of Steamer Clarion.

Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints.
DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR, WASHINGTON, D. C., 7 Feb., 1856.
SIR: I have used your Pills in my general and hospital practice ever since you made them, and cannot hesitate to say they are the best cathartic we employ. Their regulating action on the liver is quick and decided, consequently they are an admirable remedy for derangements of that organ. Indeed, I have seldom found a case of bilious disease so obstinate that it did not readily yield to them.
Fraternally yours, ALONZO BALL, M. D. Physician of the Marine Hospital.

Dysentery, Relax, and Worms.
POST OFFICE, HARTLAND, LIV. CO., MICH., Nov. 15, 1855.
DR. AYER: Your Pills are the perfection of medicine. They have done my wife more good than I can tell you. She had been sick and pining away for months. Went off to be doctored at great expense, but got no better. She then commenced taking your Pills, which soon cured her, by expelling large quantities of worms (dead) from her body. They afterwards cured her and our two children of bloody dysentery. One of our neighbors had it bad, and my wife cured him with two doses of your Pills, while others around us paid from five to twenty dollars doctors' bills, and lost much time, without being cured entirely even then. Such a medicine as yours, which is actually good and honest, will be prized here.
GEO. J. GRIFFIN, Postmaster.

Indigestion and Impurity of the Blood.
From Rev. J. V. Himes, Pastor of Advent Church, Boston.
DR. AYER: I have used your Pills with extraordinary success in my family and among those I am called to visit in distress. To regulate the organs of digestion and purify the blood they are the very best remedy I have ever known, and I can confidently recommend them to my friends. Yours, J. V. HIMES.

WARSAW, WYOMING CO., N. Y., Oct. 24, 1855.
DEAR SIR: I am using your Cathartic Pills in my practice, and find them an excellent purgative to cleanse the system, and purify the fountains of the blood.
JOHN G. MEACHAM, M. D.

Erysipelas, Scrofula, King's Evil, Tetter, Tumors, and Salt Rheum.
From a Forwarding Merchant of St. Louis, Feb. 4, 1856.
DR. AYER: Your Pills are the paragon of all that is great in medicine. They have cured my little daughter of ulcerous sores upon her hands and feet that had proved incurable for years. Her mother has been long grievously afflicted with blotches and pimples on her skin and in her hair. After our child was cured, she also tried your Pills, and they have cured her. ASA MORGRIDGE.

Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and Gout.
From the Rev. Dr. Hawkes, of the Methodist Epis. Church.
PULASKI HOUSE, SAVANNAH, GA., Jan. 6, 1856.
HONORED SIR: I should be ungrateful for the relief your skill has brought me if I did not report my case to you. A cold settled in my limbs and brought on excruciating neuralgic pains, which ended in chronic rheumatism. Notwithstanding I had the best of physicians, the disease grew worse and worse, until, by the advice of your excellent agent in Baltimore, Dr. Mackenzie, I tried your Pills. Their effects were slow, but sure. By persevering in the use of them I am now entirely well.

SENATE CHAMBER, BATON ROUGE, LA., 5 Dec., 1855.
DR. AYER: I have been entirely cured by your Pills of Rheumatic Gout—a painful disease that had afflicted me for years. VINCENT SLIDELL.

For Dropsy, Plethora, or kindred Complaints, requiring an active purge, they are an excellent remedy.

For Costiveness or Constipation, and as a Dinner Pill, they are agreeable and effectual.

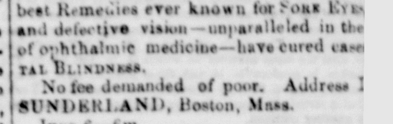

Fits, Suppression, Paralysis, Inflammation, and even Deafness, and Partial Blindness, have been cured by the alterative action of these Pills.

Most of the pills in market contain Mercury, which, although a valuable remedy in skillful hands, is dangerous in a public pill, from the dreadful consequences that frequently follow its incautious use. These contain no mercury or mineral substance whatever.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL
FOR THE RAPID CURE OF COUGHS, COLDS, HOARSENESS, INFLUENZA, BRONCHITIS, WHOOPING COUGH, CROUP, ASTHMA, INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION, and for the relief of consumptive patients in advanced stages of the disease.

We need not speak to the public of its virtues. Throughout every town, and almost every hamlet of the American States, its wonderful cures of pulmonary complaints have made it already known. Nay, few are the families in any civilized country on this continent without some personal experience of its effects; and fewer yet the communities any where which have not among them some living trophy of its victory over the subtle and dangerous diseases of the throat and lungs. While it is the most powerful antidote yet known to man for the formidable and dangerous diseases of the pulmonary organs, it is also the pleasantest and safest remedy that can be employed for infants and young persons. Parents should have it in store against the insidious enemy that steals upon them unprepared. We have abundant grounds to believe the CHERRY PECTORAL saves more lives by the consumptions it prevents than those it cures. Keep it by you, and cure your colds while they are curable, nor neglect them until no human skill can master the inexorable canker that, fastened on the vitals, eats your life away. All know the dreadful fatality of lung disorders, and as they know too the virtues of this remedy, we need not do more than to assure them it is still made the best it can be. We spare no cost, no care, no toil to produce it the most perfect possible, and thus afford those who rely on it the best agent which our skill can furnish for their cure.

PREPARED BY DR. J. C. AYER,

LOTTERIES.

The Lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co., are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have sworn commissioners appointed to superintend their drawings, and certify that everything connected with the same is done in a strictly honorable manner. They offer to the public a fair opportunity for investment, the interests of parties at a distance being as well protected as though they were present. The Managers would respectfully call attention to the fact that all persons have a legal right to send for tickets to Georgia, as the lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are authorized by the Legislature of that State. A lottery will be drawn every Saturday throughout the year, and orders received being filled in the drawing next to take place after the same comes to hand. According to the scheme one ticket in every ten must draw a prize. Tickets $10; halves $5; quarters, $2.50 No tickets sent unless the money accompanies the order. The drawings are upon the plan of one number on each ticket, and are so simple that none can fail to understand them. There is no combination of numbers to mystify the buyer. Prizes vary from $5 to $50,000; every prize being drawn, and result of drawing forwarded to all purchasers.

☞ A list of the numbers that are drawn from the wheel, with the amount that each prize is entitled to, will be published after every drawing; in the following papers: New Orleans Delta, Mobile Register, Charleston Standard, Nashville Democrat, Atlanta Intelligencer, and N. GREEN SAND MARL OF NEW JERSEY.

THE NEW JERSEY FERTILIZER COMPANY are prepared to receive orders for this important manure. For all lands upon which ashes are beneficial the Marl is more than a substitute.

Prof. Cook in his Annual Report to the Legislature of New Jersey says: "the value of these Marls is best seen in the rich and highly cultivated district which has been almost made, by their use; but it may be interesting to examine the causes of their great value in Agriculture, and to compare them with other fertilizers. For example, the potash alone may be taken at an average of five per cent of the whole weight of the Marl, a bushel when dry weighs eighty pounds, and in the proportion mentioned would contain four pounds of potash; this is nearly as much as is in a bushel of unleached wood ashes." And it is probable that the great value of the Marl is to be found in the fact that it contains nearly all the substances required to make up the ash of our common cultivated plants.

Price, delivered on board vessel at the wharf of the Company at Portland Heights on Raritan Bay, N. J., seven cents per bushel. For further particulars see circulars, sent free of postage. Orders for other letters will receive prompt attention. Address either of the undersigned.

N. B.—Those wishing Marl for Spring use, should order immediately to secure its early shipment. Orders will be filled in rotation.
